

Finance Transformation

as part of implementation of shared service centres, ERP and outsourcing

Multinational corporations often deal with an internal organisation in which key processes have evolved in an organic way. As a result processes are seldom standardised across countries or business units. This is costly and ineffective. CPI is a leading partner in helping clients with the design and transformation of the finance function. We apply an end-to-end and integrated approach, involving business units and third parties. In this context clients choose CPI for project management and support when dealing for example with outsourcing initiatives, ERP implementations or the set up of shared service centres.

- Transformation of the finance function leads to significant cost savings
- Benefit from operational and control effectiveness
- End-to-end and integrated approach delivers expected results
- CPI expertise connects IT, business and finance

CPI OFFERS A TAILORED APPROACH THAT SAVES COSTS AND ADDS CONTROL

DESIGN & PLANNING

1. Understanding objectives, current situation and stakeholders

About CPI

CPI | CONNECTING PEOPLE WITH IMPACT
IN RISK, FINANCE & GOVERNANCE

The future in professional services in risk, finance and governance

CPI is the professional services organisation of the future. We offer clients and professionals what they truly need in the field of risk, finance and governance: highly experienced and passionate professionals, flexibility, honest pricing and thought leadership.

Resilient clients with an awareness of the current climate

Our clients recognise that developments around the world require their organisations to be strongly focused on risk, finance and governance. They choose to partner with CPI and tackle both the compulsory items and those which create value. Results are achieved through CPI's Strategic advice, Implementation & embedding and Interim management. CPI clients are market-listed, private-equity owned, family businesses or (semi-) public institutions.

Experienced and driven professionals with a shared mission

The CPI model attracts highly experienced and entrepreneurial professionals. We select the very best. Professionals, who in turn choose to work with an organisation that enables them to be independent, develop personal growth and make a difference. There are more than 300 CPI professionals; each has over ten years of experience. Further to their background in consultancy, each has relevant line-management experience.
